New President Is Discussed By Congressman Clarence Lea

REPRESENTATIVE'S VIEWS OF CALVIN COOLIDGE GIVEN

Democratic Congressman Believes New Leader of the Nation Will Be Safe.

By CONGRESSMAN LEA

On the death of President Harding the people of the country turned with inquiring mind to Calvin Coolidge, so unexpectedly made their president. They have been asking: "What kind of a man is he? Is he qualified to be president? Will he make a good president? What kind of a president will he be?" Time alone can satisfactorily answer these questions.

Ordinarily the selection of a vice presidential candidate is more or less a perfunctory performance usually largely influenced by geographical considerations or political compromises. The candidate for vice president and even the vice president himself never has his qualifications subjected to that searching inquiry that is commonly made of a president.

Calvin Coolidge is a good man. Personally I would not say that he strongly resembles any other president of this generation. Physically he is rather frail, blue eyes, and light hair with a strong tinge of red. He is a modest, intellectual, old-fashioned distinctly New England type. He is reticent to a degree possessed by few men in our public life.

He has a mental training and practical experience in public life sufficient to properly equip him for the presidency. He holds several college degrees and has the training of a lawyer He has the public experience of the mayor of a city, a member of the state legislature, a lientenant-governor, a governor of a great state and two and a half years as vice president he presided over the Senate of the United States.

His rise to national prominence was sudden and spectacular. The Boston police strike of a few years ago excited the intense interest of the nation, particularly along the Atlantic seaboard. As governor, Mr. Collidge finally handled the matter in a positive, effective way that was generally regarded as being a noteworthy vindication of public rights. Judging him principally by this one act that received the attention of the nation he was appraised a man of action and positive character.

Two years and a half in the vice presidency has done nothing to confirm that popular judgment of Mr. Coolidge. This is not necessary a criticism of Mr. Coolidge. The duties of a vice president are somewhat of a nominal and secondary character. He has little to do with initiating, defining or executing policies. Mr. Coolidge is not of the type that will seek notoriety nor self-glorification

He has a serious sense of responsibility. His mental make-up and practice of a lifetime has been one of conservativeness. He follows the beaten paths When responsibility comes he is apparently ready to meet it.

Personally Mr. Coolidge is commonplace and approachable. He is of judicial temperament and studiously industrious. Ordinarily he works in his office in the Capitol building with the door leading into the corridor standing open. Anyone having business will be received courteously and be given a considerate hearing. He will not feel that he has been in a personally winning presence, as with President Harding, but in my judgment, he will depart feeling that he has been courteously treated and that the problem he presents will be intelligently considered.

Some circumstances of his coming to the presidency are advantageous to him In the first place, he has secured his position practically without the handicap that frequently impedes a president who is too much bound up by campaign promises and platform pledges. His quiet, reserved disposition has left him freer of personal obligations than most men who assume positions of great responsibility. In the next place he is unusually free of the patronage handicap that rests like a stone around a president's neck. He can proceed almost entirely with the appointments made by Mr. Harding, largely freed from the annoying controversies and difficult task of properly selecting appointees. In addition to that he will have a convenient opportunity to dispense with the services of unfortunate appointees made by his predecessor. For two years and a half he has had the opportunity of closely observing the governmental machinery and to profit by his knowledge of its mistakes.

He takes the reins of government when there is much discontent and dissatisfaction. Such a situation carries responsibilities but on the other hand affords him an opportunity of ultimate success if he can apply to the problems of the country real leadership.

Community Mourned With Nation Death of the Late Warren G. Harding.

Sonoma, in kin with all American towns and cities from the near Pacific to the far-away Atlantic, mourned yesterday for the nation's beloved president, the late Warren G. Harding.

Regardless of racial origin, of creed or politics, the people of this valley paid homage to the memory of the illustrious statesman who was fated to die in this Far West and to make the journey eternal from whence no traveler e'er returns.

The hearts of the people, overflowing with sorrow at the nation's loss, were comforted yesterday at the services by the thought that America had not suffered a loss, but had really been enriched and profited well through the life and achievements and example of this splendid citizen and patriot, friend of peace.

Young America, called to do homage to the departed President by Sonoma county's superintendent of schools Louise Clark, glimpsed at Sonoma's gathering of patriotic citizens a cross section of the national heart bowed down.

Throughout the United States yesterday similar tribute was paid Warren Harding and kindred tears came to the countless eyes who visioned the scene at Marion, Ohio, the old home town, where mourners comforted a widow and aged father.

Sonoma's program at the community services held at the Woman's Club house was as follows:

Song, "Star Spangled Banner"—Audience.

Scripture reading, 90th Psalm—Rev. Isaac Cookman.

Solo, "Nearer, My God, To Thee" —Mrs. Lulu V. Emparan.

Prayer—Rev. J. F. Byrne.

Introductory remarks—F T. Duhring.

Memorial address—Judge C. W. Eastin.

Solo, "Lead, Kindly Light"—Clyde Sage.

Song, "America."

Benediction—Rev. Cookman.

HEROIC WORK AT SANITARIUM FIRE

Dying Patient Carried to Safety Is Recovering; $12,000 Loss Partially Covered by Insurance.

In addition to the heroic work of the volunteer fire departments and helpers at the Crane Sanitarium fire Friday afternoon of last week, were the more heroic acts of Mr. and Mrs. Crane and Mrs. Reed, the nurse, who as they realized the danger to helpless patients, not only carried them to safety but had presence of mind to realize that regardless of danger sufficient equipment must be saved to perform an emergency operation on one of the sufferers.

Oliver O'Dell, almost dying as a result of an operation for acute appendicitis, with four ice packs on him and drain tubes from his side, was not only carried out quietly and gently from the second floor, but his kindly nurse and rescuers thought in a flash of the second operation which doctors were planning as a means of giving him a fighting chance for life. With the flames crackling above their heads, his brave nurses hurried to the second floor again for the surgical instruments and sterilizing equipment necessary for the contemplated operation Oblivious of her own safety and with no thought of saving her own clothes and personal effects, Mrs. Reed, thinking of every detail, groped in the smoke until she had everything necessary for her patient. Communication then being cut off by the stairway she was led by the firemen down a ladder to safety.

O'Dell, whose life was despaired of is now thought to be recovering despite his thrilling experience, and the anxiety he gave his nurses and doctors The other patients, including the new baby of Mrs. E. Castagnasso are doing nicely.

Mrs. Crane declares that when she first detected the fire, the flame was not larger than a dinner plate. She called her husband, who climbed to the roof and gave battle to the blaze. Lack of water, with which to work and a sharp breeze which sprung up alarmed him so he called to his wife to get the patients out and then turn in the alarm of fire With no one to assist him and hampered for water, Crane realized that the fire was serious and hastened below to help carry the helpless to safety and direct the fire chiefs to the water supply. With the arrival of the engines and volunteers, some of the household goods on the lower floor were saved, but all the beds, bedding, linen and clothing on the second floor was a total loss as was also many groceries, supplies and much preserved fruit in the store room and cellar.

Mr. and Mrs. Crane estimate the loss of building, contents and hospital equipment at $ 8,000, with partial insurance

The loss was promptly adjusted by L. Mouyer, of the Scottish Union and Norfolk Union Insurance Companies in which the Cranes were insured for $4000

A pathetic incident of the fire was the arrival of Oliver O'Dell's brother from the south as the sanitarium was breaking into flames. Seeing the fire when he arrived here, he rushed to the hospital, fearing that his brother had been trapped on the upper floor. He was very thankful to hear of his rescue and believes that it is a miracle that the doctors and nurses have been able to pull him through.

Capt. O'Donnell Is Victim Of Accident

Captain O'Donnell of Agua Caliente met with a painful and serious accident recently when his clothes ignited from a gasoline stove. He was quite badly burned and had a narrow escape from more serious injury.

New Hospital for Sonoma Is Being Planned

Crane's Sanitarium Will Be Replaced By Modern Fireproof Structure. Sonoma Valley Capital Needed.

Plans already discussed for a new Sonoma Valley hospital, even prior to the disastrous fire which leveled Crane's Sanitarium, are now rapidly taking shape. The Cranes, who for seven years conducted Sonoma's sanitarium with marked success, have had many excellent blue prints submitted, some of the designers and architects even tendering financial aid to insure the immediate rebuilding of the hospital.

Mrs. Crane, in an interview, declared that experience proved Sonoma Valley's need for a hospital beyond their ability to personally finance, but the Crane Sanitarium will be incorporated at once and steps taken to finance a new building and equipment suitable to the needs of local physicians and their patients.

A modern hospital for Sonoma Valley is not only a necessity but has proven a good investment. The Crane Sanitarium with its careful, experienced management, would be a splendid nucleus for the project made imperative by the fire, stated a leading doctor of Sonoma in discussing the hospital situation yesterday. He pointed out the advantage of a local hospital in the circulation of money in the community and the proximity of patients to their families. Tedious and expensive trips to the city with loss of time and money when visiting sick friends and relatives out of town are avoided and inquiry can be made day or night.

Visitors At The Snyder Ranch

Mrs. Zane and Miss Clara Zane of Bellingham, Wash, cousins of Mrs. R. J. Snyder, are visitors at the Snyder ranch. Miss Zane, who is a clever driver, was at the wheel of her Studebaker sedan on the entire trip from Washinton to Sonoma Valley.

ENTIRE PARISH IS EXPECTED TO BE IN ATTENDANCE

Two Masses Will Be Celebrated By Rev. J. F. Byrne In Handsome Edifice Just Completed.

Two masses, one at 7 o'clock and the second at 10 a. m., will be celebrated at the new St. Francis church tomorrow by Rev. J. F. Byrne. The first service to be held in the handsome new edifice is expected to bring out a large number of parishioners. The new bell, gift of Sam Sebastiani, will call the faithful to their devotions.

The interior of Sonoma's new Catholic church conforms to the Mission type exterior, and is characterized by a quiet dignity and ecclesiastical beauty without the severity of former structures. The cathedral glass used in the windows over the cloisters and the wall finish of amber buff diffuses a soft light, which shows to advantage the beautiful interior furnishings and marble altars. The main altar, of rich imported marble, has a facade of the Lord's Supper in bas-relief. The main altar window is of stained glass, the design revealing St. Francis Feeding the Birds, with the Mission in the background. The inscription on this gift window is "In loving memory of Catherine and Michael Millerick." The rose window, a beautiful conception of St. Francis' Vision, bears the inscription, "In memorium, Adele Escolle." The Stations of the Cross are most beautiful.

The seats in the new edifice are of quarter-sawed oak finished in Flemish tones. The church has a seating capacity of 400.

Druggist To Have Hearing Wednesday

L. F. Lambert who is accused by Agent Fletcher of the State Board of Pharmacy of allowing poisons to be sold at his Boyes Springs store without a registered pharmacist in charge, declares his wife and clerk were the victims of a sale forced on them by Fletcher who plead that me must have the drugs for an emergency. He will be defended by the attorney of the Retail Druggists Association when the case comes up before Judge Vaughan at Santa Rosa Wednesday.

Dance Tonight At Jack London Library

The beautiful club house of the Glen Ellen ladies, the Jack London Memorial Library building, will be the scene of another social dance this evening. The club women extend a cordial invitation to the public to attend. The series of dances of which this is the second, are to help pay off the indebtedness on the memorial to the late Jack London.

The assembly hall is admirably adapted to dancing, the fine maple floor and lighting making it particularly attractive.

Refreshments will be served hospitable committee and and good music

This is the second derailment at this station within the past month.

Henry Koerner was a week end visitor in San Francisco, where he is now practicing for a comeback as a real old time German singer. The club of which Henry is a member meets each week and he is much elated over his success so far as a singer. This singing club is the largest in the entire state.

A large crowd of the natives, those who in the good old days enjoyed a little drink now and then, assembled around the large tank and received quite a "kick" from the scent of this high class vinegar, it taking them back in memory to the time when the Valley of the Moon was famous for its grapes and wines. The vinegar is pumped into the cars, and El Verano once more has the odor of a wet town. Everybody is sniffing it. It's all free, and prohibition officers can't kick in on the fun. This is one time the wets score on the drys.

The great Seal is suffering with tuberculosis, and baseball fans, headed by William H. Lane, president of the Salt Lake City ball club, are planning a monstrous benefit for Miller, it being said he hasn't sufficient funds to fight the dread disease. ## RETURNS FROM OUTING WITH THE SIERRA CLUB

Mrs. Carrie Burlingame returned on Tuesday from a month's outing in the Yosemite National Park with the Sierra Club. The party, numbering over 125, covered 260 miles on the trip, hiking to points of interest on the northeast border of the Valley and returning to the southwest border. The trip to Tuoloumne River at Pate Valley afforded a view of Hetch Hetchy and was most interesting.

The Sierra Club planned its trip so the members would arrive in the vicinity of Glacier Point at the time the late President Harding and party were to have been there. The Club was to have hiked a distance of five miles to Glacier Point and put on around a camp fire one of the regular Sierra programs for the President. The idea was to give the official party an idea of the work of the Sierra Club of California and its conservation program.

Among the first to hear of the President's death was Mrs. Burlingame, who met travelers the morning after his passing and was told the sad news.

One accident marred the trip of the Sierra Club this year. A young lady of the party, Miss Fulton of Alameda, was thrown from a horse and badly injured. It was necessary to carry her out over 35 miles of rugged country to get surgical attention.

GEORGE CARPENTER HAS STARTED SUIT

An action was filed in the Superior Court of this county by George B. Carpenter, Jr., of Sonoma Valley, against John Landis of Santa Rosa.

The action was brought for the purpose of obtaining a reconveyance of property bought under a sheriff's deed by Landis, and the complaint alleges that the property, valued at $7500, was obtained for a judgment amounting to the sum of $555.25.

Carpenter asks in his complaint that the deed of the sheriff be set aside on account of the inadequacy of consideration and upon reading and filing the complaint, the court issued a temporary restraining order, signed by Judge Thompson, prohibiting Landis from selling, encumbering or disposing of the property.

The complainant is represented by Attorney F. J. Burke.

Miss Edna Skinner of Petaluma has been here on a visit to her grandmother, Mrs. Louise McElroy. The new bungalow which Mrs. McElroy plans is soon to be started on the property purchased on Broadway some months ago.

FEDERAL DRY AGENT HAS BEEN DISMISSED

C. Harry Wheeler, suspended chief of prohibition agents, has been permanently "fired" by Prohibition Director Sam Rutter.

He was told to "take his vacation and not come back," no matter what the outcome of the investigation now being carried on by the intelligence unit of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Although Director Rutter made no statement in announcing Wheeler's dismissal, an authority close to him has declared that "Rutter has stood enough from Wheeler," is through with him and that his dismissal comes for the good of the service.

Wheeler was suspended several weeks ago following the alleged disappearance of seized booze from the Customs House property room.

Charges were hurled of additional absence of a large part of the liquor seized by Wheeler and his men in the Monterey raid.

This, together with Wheeler's association with certain discredited dry agents, fired from the federal force and now alleged to be "advisors of bootleggers," brought the secret service operatives into play. Their investigation resulted in Wheeler's suspension.

Despite the fact that the outcome of this sifting has not been made known, Wheeler's peremptory dismissal came with a surprising note of finality.

He had 30 days 'vacation coming. Director Rutter, it is understood, told him to take his 30 days and not come back.

This decision was made without reservation. It was declared that even if the investigation of the intelligence unit fails to substantiate the charges against Wheeler it will in no way influence Rutter's decision.

A voluminous report, representing weeks of investigation by this unit, is ready for Washington, is was declared. It will be forwarded shortly, a copy being retained here by Rutter.

This report is said not only to substantiate the already mentioned charges against Wheeler, but also the alleged sales of corn sugar and parts of moonshine stills by Wheeler to an under cover prohibition agent named Wright, and the alleged brutal methods employed by Wheeler in conducting raids.

H. H. Dolley, who was brought here from the Los Angeles office, will permanently succeed Wheeler.—San Francisco Bulletin.

U. S. CAVALRY AT THE STATE FAIR

Another feature attraction for the State Fair has been added.

Troop E, 11th U. S. Cavalry, one of the best drilled troops in the army, under the command of Captain Harry E. Pendleton, is coming to the California State Fair to give drills, monkey drill, push ball and demonstrations of daring, fancy and skillful horsemanship during the entire season, September 1 to 9.

Colonel J. Cusack, commanding the 17th Cavalry, U S. A., Presidio, San Francisco, officially notified Charles W. Paine, secretary of the State Fair, of this special army assignment. The troop will arrive perhaps the day before the Fair opens and pitch their camp on the fair grounds Every accommodation and entertainment will be given the cavalrymen

The repertoire of the troop includes some of the most daring horseback and fancy riding and jumping ever seen outside a circus hippodrome and a rodeo. "Boots and saddles" every day will be the program. A number of the troopers will ride singly, doubly and in pyramid on one, two, three and four mounts. Some of the army fancy stunts will be enacted along with the more thrilling and amusing numbers.

Besides the day program on the race track, the troopers will take a part in the horse show every night, competing for the awards in jumping and other classes entered.

The riding of the American cavalryman has come to be even more skillful and efficient than that of the once famous Russian Cossack

DAUGHTER OF PIONEER FAMILY IS MOURNED

Mrs. Allie Law Hubsch of the well known pioneer Law family of Sonoma and Glen Ellen, died recently in Oregon. Allie Law was born here and is kindly remembered by many old friends. Her funeral took place from her late home in Dunsmuir.

Deft Touches that make the house a home

It may be only a chair, rescued from long oblivion in the attic, that lends a bright spot to an otherwise colorless room; or brilliant basket holding a bowl of flowers. But surely it is the little touches—the feminine touches—that make the house a home!

Women who are anxious to beautify the interior of their homes are devoted to such Fuller products as Silkenwhite Enamel, Decoret and Fullerwear Varnish. Decoret, a varnish and stain in one, imitates various natural woods—oak, mahogany, walnut, etc.

Whatever your painting need, W. P. Fuller & Co. makes a paint for the purpose. There is a local Fuller agent or dealer who carries Fuller Products. Why not see him today. Write, too, for our "Home Service" booklet.

CONFIDENCE IN COOLIDGE

The American people have every reason to have confidence in Calvin Coolidge, now President of the United States His conservative character commends him at this critical time of transition in the affairs of the United States and his familiarity with the Harding program makes him equal to the task of "carrying on."

We should not form snap judgment of our new President, remembering that much we will read of him will be propaganda designed to help some ambitious candidate for the presidency in 1924. If we would know more of Coolidge, let us review his official public life and read carefully his public utterances. In this way we can form some idea of the man upon whom now devolves the tremendously important duties of chief executive of the American nation. He cannot be expected to take the place in the hearts of the people held by the late Warren G. Harding, but eventually he may, and meanwhile, our President as a president, is entitled to wholehearted respect and loyal co-operation.

WALTER STUERMER, JR., CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Walter Stuermer, Jr., of Boyes Springs, celebrated his second birthday Sunday with a nice party. The house was prettily decorated and the table very attractively adorned with streamers, favors, kewpie dolls and a birthday cake with two gleaming candles.

Among those present with their children were Mesdames Brubeck, Derham, Paulsen, Dodge, Norrbom, Smith; Mrs. Wood and little Harry Bain of Oakland; Mrs. F. Stuermer, Sr.; Miss Doreles Breitenbach, Dorothy Lane, Jack Marks, Stanley McGill, Nellie Chambers, Paul and Freida Kruchwitz and Mrs. Walter Steurmer.

The baby received many nice gifts.

EASTERN NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENT HERE

S. T. Adams, of Los Angeles, representing the Bloomington Pantagraph and Clinton Register, two daily newspapers of Central Illinois, was in Sonoma Tuesday. Mr. Adams came here in search of material for an article which he is writing for these publications about this part of California. He had just completed an article on Monterey before coming here.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Lynch and little son spent Wednesday and Thursday here. They came up from Pt. Richmond where Mr. Lynch is employed at the Standard Oil Company plant.

FIRE DEPARTMENT NOTES

There are a great many property owners who live in the city and outlying districts whom we seldom see, and we would appreciate a check or money order from them and hope they will respond as willingly as we do to their call for help in case of fire. Make all checks or money orders payable to Chief W. B. Cause, of the Boyes Springs and Valley Volunteer Fire Department.

For the benefit of those who do not know, as well as the know-it-alls, I would like to call to their attention that all large cities, with all of their up to date and modern fire engines, water towers and every available fire apparatus, have a large fire with a heavy loss occasionally. Then why should it not be so in this valley? Why should the men who so willingly fight these fires voluntarily be censured or ridiculed for not being able to save a frame building, like Crane's Sanitarium, with a strong wind blowing and the lack of water against them. As a rule, the ones who know it all are the ones that stand in the background. Personally I know that both the Sonoma and Boyes Springs fire departments did grand and heroic work in holding down the fire as they did. Had it not been for them, there would have been a much larger fire and probably a great many other homes destroyed. Many of the men who fought the Crane fire were drenched from head to foot and some more or less bruised and blistered from the heat, while the know-it-all was dry and neither hurt nor burned. Again I wish to say the firemen did heroic work and that firemen are only human and cannot perform miracles.

CHIEF CAUSE.

ECG EATING CONTEST

When Charles Jensen, a railroad fireman of Anacortes, Wash., ate 38 eggs in 13 minutes a few days ago and then went to bed and slept soundly, he proved to be one of Petaluma's best customers and the Chamber of Commerce will invite him here to participate in a championship egg eating contest during the Egg Day festival on August 15th.

A former record of 29 eggs in 13 minutes is said to be held by an Ohio man, but there are many in Anacortes who will testify to Jensen's feat.

Secretary Kerrigan of the Petaluma Chamber of Commerce has several inquiries from aspiring egg eaters since the announcement of Jensen's meal, with the result that a formidable array of contestants will no doubt be present during the Egg Day festival.

Mrs. Alma Cutter Williams and daughter, Paloma, have been summering here at the old Vallejo home.

Does Fear Put a Tax on Your Pocket-Book?

Fear is a partner in the sale of many a quart of high-priced motor oil. The motorist pays for added protection that he does not get. The extra money usually goes into long-haul transportation and high merchandising costs.

Zerolene, produced on the Pacific Coast and often selling for half as much as other oils, reduces friction and wear to a greater extent than any other motor lubricant we have seen and tested or been able to produce. It is a better oil — even if it does cost less. Ask for it by name — Zerolene.

AGUA CALIENTE ITEMS

N. M. Peterson will be the new janitor of Flowery School

Miss Vera Woolm and Mrs. Zella Woolm of Los Angeles are sojourning at the Perkins home.

William White has completed an extension of his water system to include the Caliente Villa.

Wilfred Cohen, the shiek of Agua Caliente, has decided to enter the College of Pharmacy on August 20th.

Rudolph Spreckels and family, Mr. Doble of steam car fame, former Mayor Mott of Oakland and Mr. Hubbard curator of the Oakland museum, were a few of the visitors to pay homage to the "frozen beauty" Sunday.

The Lund family, including the young naturalist of lower Broadway were also visitors during the week

With such competent judges as Marcy, Mullen, Craib, and Campbell in the jury, Mr. Ruggiero of San Francisco and Miss Genevieve White, the winsome postmistress of Agua Caliente, fox trotted to victory at the Scaler Pavillion last Saturday evening. Miss White did not know she had entered a contest until after the dance started.

Sal Carlo and Miss Westcott of Agua Caliente proved their worth as fire fighters, they being among the first to arrive at the Crane Sanitarium fire Miss Westcott sprained her ankle in the excitement.

A party of 25 San Francisco commercial Travelers' Assiciation members made things lively at Corcoran's Hotel Sunday and one of the party made a high dive into the tank, clothes and all, on a wager. Saturday a party from the hotel visited El Verano and as soon as Mr. Corcoran was visualized by the orchestra, the sweet strains of "My Wild Irish Rose" were introduced in a waltz.

Mrs. Perkins of Caliente Park will furnish an orchestra Saturday for the dance at Glen Ellen for the benefit of the Jack London library.

CARD OF THANKS

On behalf of the Boyes Springs and Valley Volunteer Fire Department, I wish to thank George Lowell for the liberal check that he gave me for the fire department last Saturday night, and I also wish to state that it is just such appreciation of the work of the fire department that puts life into all the members of the department and makes them feel that their efforts are at least recognized.

WILL START AUTO SALVAGE YARD HERE

L. E. States, who came to Sonoma recently with his family, from North Dakota, has decided to go into business here and will establish an automobile salvage yard, dealing in second hand cars and parts. He will buy and sell used cars.

Mr. States has rented the Napa street lot adjoining the Standard Oil station and is now making it ready for his business.

Those who have already dealt with States are pleased with the square deal given them and predict that he will fill an evident need in the auto game.

The Dakotan has had much experience in the line of business in which he is engaging and likes his new location.

MILKING MACHINE INSTALLED BY DAIRYMAN

Tony Marcucci, the Schellville dairy man, has installed one of the latest improved type milking machines and declares it to be a great success. Although the machine cost about $1000, it has replaced three men and the milking is now done in a little over two hours time Marcucci milks 75 or 80 cows and declares that even young cows with their first calves are tractable when milked by the new device.

The milking machine is a DeLaval and was purchased from the Tomasini Company.

As dairy hands' wages have risen to about $100 a month, it is easily seen that milking machines soon pay for themselves and release help for other industrial lines where machinery cannot do the work of men.

VALLEJO DAY AT WOMANS CLUB

Mrs. Mumfrey and daughter Janet of Burlingame were called here the first of the week on account of the death of the son and brother, who passed away.

GRASSHOPPERS INVADE THE SONOMA VALLEY

An unusual visitation of grasshoppers has been reported by Sonoma Valley farmers and orchardists. The pests have done considerable damage in various localities, even destroying young vineyards. Orchardists are using a protective spray on young foliage and otherwise combatting the pests.

MISSIONARY IN CHINA WRITES BENEFACTOR

Katherine Bohn, of Calistoga, who is doing missionary work in China, and was being aided by the Napa Baptist church, and by private benefactors wrote a very interesting letter to the late Mrs. J. C. Shofner, who had generously aided and encouraged her in her very commendable work in the Orient.

The Calistoga missionary's letter follows:

"Kityang, via Swatow, China.
"June 21, 1923.

"Dear Mrs. Shofner:

"Your lovely letter of April 7, with the $10 draft, came a bit ago, and I now write you to thank you for both. It was, indeed, most kind of you to remember me in this way, with the money for myself and then this money for the work. I am most grateful to you and wisk to thank you for it.

"I am glad you enjoyed my letter. I only wish I had more time to write to all my good friends in the homeland oftener and more interestingly.

"At this time I am on the launch that runs between Swatow and Kityang, so that accounts for the jiggly handwriting. It is exceedingly hot these days, and even though it is but 7:30 a. m., it is very bright and hot. We left at 5 a. m. and have about another two hours to go. A friend of mine in our Mission at Kakchieh is expecting a baby in a day or so, so I am on my way down to help take care of her for a bit.

"Last week I passed another language examination. One more next December, and I will be through with language work and will then be able to devote most of my time to the work in the hospitals. I will be very happy then. There is a great field out here for a medical worker. It is a wonderful missionary opportunity we have if we can have the patience, strength and grace to go on. Our medical work in this South China mission is greatly undermanned. We could use quite a few more home workers if they could be sent.

"The soldiers have been going away the past week, though for about two months they have been around by the hundreds. Six weeks ago I witnessed a battle from our upstairs. It was very near our compound. There were several thousand soldiers all through our district then. The casualties were not great, but the sound of bullets flying around was not very pleasant. Fortunately, none of us were molested and the battle ended in an hour. It was on a Sunday afternoon. Atrocious deeds have been done by the Chinese soldiers, but things are fairly quiet now.

"Thank you again for your good gift. With love,

"KATHERINE BOHN."

PLANS PAGEANT OF TOTAL ECLIPSE OF SUN

Preparations for the Fete of the Sun, the great pageant drama to be presented in Coronado on the occasion of the total eclipse of the sun on September 10th, will be made with all possible speed to insure the spectacle being entirely ready for presenta tion on the day of the eclipse. The offices of the Merchants' Association of Coronado, under whose auspices the pageant is to be staged, are buzzing with activity.

The Fete of the Sun is perhaps the most original undertaking ever entered upon by a community. The phenomenon of the eclipse is so inspiring and the gigantic forces of nature concerned are so majestic that any human effort to compare with them must seem almost ridiculous. Though this be self-evident, there still remains the possibility of presenting a spectacle which will revive the impressions that this miracle has made on former occasions.

The total eclipse of the sun with the effect of a darkness made visible has had striking results in ancient times. To many it has seemed that the end of the world was approaching and that disaster and catastrophe of unlimited dimensions were about to engulf the world. To others it has been a symbol of Almighty mercy, which after a great darkness brings back the light. After the winter, the spring; after the storm, the rainbow and after the gloom of the eclipse, the light of day.

Nowhere in the United States will the totality be so complete and of such duration as in Coronado and San Diego, and arrangements have been made to produce a mammoth pageant on the grounds of the Coronado Country Club. The theme of the spectacle will be to revive the impressions, rites and beliefs of ancient times. The play will be in three episodes. First, the dissipation and the careless acceptance by man of the blessings of Nature; second, man's fear and repentance, and the removal of all light; third, the forgiveness and restoration of the favor of the Almighty.

The scenes are laid in a festival place of a great city of the middle ages. Revelry, dancing and careless dissipation hold sway with no thought beyond the immediate present.

The material climax is reached when the arrogant king orders the massacre of the older senators who oppose his excessive and extravagant wishes. The king's daughter pleads in vain for a more kindly and humane treatment and implores her lover, the young captain of the king's guard, to refuse the execution of her father's order. For her interference with a royal command, she is sentenced by the infuriated monarch to die in the torture chamber of the royal prison.

A prophet of the royal household appears and forbids the punishment and murder. He calls upon the heavens to support him. All eyes are turned to the sky and the gradual darkening of the sun is observed. In haste the festivities cease and with solemn ritual, a mighty processional of supplicants approach the high altar seeking divine mercy. The darkness deepens. The prophet stands alone in devout entreaty to the elements. In chaos and fear the terrified people determine to sacrifice the king and his daughter that the anger of the gods may be assuaged.

The multitude, robed in black, move sullenly to the sacrificial altar. Here and there torches are lit as the dreadful wail and the music of lamentation is heard. The total eclipse are consummated. The king and his daughter must give their lives that their people may live.

For three minutes during the time of total darkness, the whole spectacle will remain in statuesque repose, with out movement—a picture made desolate by the departure of the light of day. The prophet moves slowly to the condemned group as the shadow slowly departs, the light appears as the soft strain of music gives hope. The pulse quickens and a thrill of joy is experienced as a band of snowy white messengers proclaim that the mercy of the Creator is infinite. In a happy and satisfied frame of mind the citizens return to their rejoicing with a fuller appreciation of the miracles of nature.

Garnet Holme is the author of the pageant as it will be produced. He has been most before the public of the Pacific Coast as an author and producer of outdoor plays and pageants in the natural beauties of the state. The Mountain Play on Mt. Tamalpais, the Desert Play at Palm Springs, the Mission Play at Carmel, and the Redwood Play in the National Sequoia Park were all part of his creative work

Mr. Holme was for seven years associated with the University of California in the Greek Theatre, producing Shakespearian plays, old English comedies, translations from the Sanskrit and many of the classics in pageantry. He comes to Coronado following the presentation of his new Mission Pageant at Sonoma Mission—Pacific Municipalities.
